At home

Celebrate trees from the comfort of your community (you don't even need to have trees around you!).

Make Tree Charter Day the day you:

Hold a street party or a woodland walk to celebrate trees with your neighbours

Make delicious treats from the fruits of trees – you could forage over the summer and enjoy home-made hedgerow jam, hazelnut butter, or even gin

Try 'leaf-peeping': taking photos or painting the autumn colour near you

Do some tree planting in your neighbourhood

Go for a walk in the woods - with your friends, the dog, or just you

WTML/Michael Heffernan

Go and say 'Hello' and 'Thank You' to your favourite tree

WTML/Laurie Campbell

Visit your nearest Tree Charter Principle Pole (why not visit them all during Tree Week)

Immerse yourself in trees through poetry, art, film, music, or read fact or fiction inspired by trees

WTML/Julie Dodd

In the shops

Use your consumer power to support trees and woods.

Make Tree Charter Day the day you:

Buy seasonal food or drink made from the fruits of trees, like apple tarts or chestnuts for roasting

WTML/Alind Srivastava

Learn about the wonders and benefits of trees – go online or check out your local library for resources

WTML/John Bridges

Swap your toilet roll and paper for FSC, or recycled/sustainable paper products

Support local craftspeople and buy a gift made from sustainable, certified, legal wood for someone special

WTML/Helen Parr

Using wood fuel for energy? Ensure your provider is using sustainable, UK grown materials or swap for one that does

Behind the scenes

Influence policies and decision-making at community, business, and government level.

Make Tree Charter Day the day you:

Make your trees and woodland more visible – find out how you can help to measure woodland cover, or record ancient trees on the Ancient Tree Inventory

WTML/Julian Hight

Sign a petition to protect trees or woodland at risk

WTML/Michael Heffernan

Make a date with your councillor or MP (maybe take a walk to the woods together) and have a chat about why trees and woods matter

WTML/Neil Benzie

Check the label or ask retailers about their timber source before purchasing furniture or materials made from wood

WTML/Colin Varrell

Go paperless – request online receipts and billing
